

Camden Community Band
Murray Bishop Music

Covid safety plan for public performances

Scope: Due to the continued easing of COVID restrictions within NSW, it is now possible to organise performances on a one-off basis in a COVID safe environment and with regard to standing Health requirements.

Band: Any performers or bands will adhere to social distancing guidelines and existing protocols for the safe conduct of players at all times.

A COVID sign on sheet will be used for all performers to enable rapid tracing should that be necessary

All Band members will be temperature checked upon arrival at the venue and will have to declare that they are free for symptoms or close contact with COVID infected persons, should they not comply or demonstrate even the mildest symptoms they will be denied entry to the venue, placed on a warning register and will have to undergo 14 days isolation after a COVID test. before they are admitted to band again at any location. Should the test be positive, NSW health will be notified immediately.

Location of performers to audience: the bands will be located a minimum distance of 5 metres from the front row of any audience and the bands will seat themselves appropriately to ensure social distancing is maintained. The distance should be clearly marked.

Audience: Access to any event will be via a ticketed system with a clearly identified maximum attendance to ensure correct distancing is maintained. At an outside venue, COVID marshals may be used to enforce suitable social distancing. Audience members should be provided with a COVID register either electronically or in writing to enable rapid tracing should the need arise. Any audience member displaying symptoms of COVID will be denied entry

Audience members are encouraged to wear masks where appropriate. These may be self-supplied or supplied via the venue for use. A suitable means of disposal must also be supplied

Access to the performance site will be restricted to a nominated entry which should be different to any nominated exit if possible.

The audience is required to remain seated throughout the performance other than to use provided facilities.

Members of the audience should be, where possible "Self-contained" i.e. provide their own seating and refreshments, however, should seating be utilised, it should be disinfected before and again after the event with suitable disinfectant.

Hand Sanitiser and wipes shall be provided and their use encouraged by all on site
